Lifelong Learning Programme

How should I serve hotel guests in Germany? How do you take an order in a French restaurant?

WHAT? Ready-Study-Go! project produced on-line learning material to be used before an on-the-job learning period abroad and during this period. The material is intended for hotel, restaurant and bakery sectors. Ready-Study-Go-Ahead project transfers the innovation into vehicle sector and into new languages.

The material consists of different writing, listening and pronunciation exercises and takes into consideration different learning styles and learners at different levels.

FOR WHO?

Students going abroad for their on-the-job learning period can learn the target language related to their profession and get to know the working culture in the target country. The students can also benefit from the material during their on-the-job learning period abroad.

In addition to preparation the material is suitable to use in vocational language teaching, guiding foreign trainees in a company and as well as self-learning material.

Language and culture learning material has already been produced in Italian, French, German, Finnish and Estonian languages. In Ready-Study-Go-Ahead new material will be produced in Spanish, Turkish and Swedish.

PRODUCTS

General language and culture learning material

Materials are available in Finnish, French, Estonian, German and Italian languages. Spanish, Swedish and Turkish materials are currently being produced.

Sector specific language and culture learning materials are available for restaurant, bakery and hotel sectors. New materials are produced for vehicle sector.
